Jefferson IRB Announcement - WIRB Application Process is Now Live

The Office of Human Research is pleased to announce the launch of the Western IRB (WIRB) application process. This will allow investigators to apply to WIRB to join existing or pending studies.

The application process is limited to select phase 2, 3 & 4 studies that are commercially funded. All final decisions on whether or not an investigator is permitted to apply to join a study will be made by the Office of Human Research.

Go to our new webpage to learn about the process:

http://www.jefferson.edu/university/human_research/irb/using-a-central-irb.html. (You also can access this page via the "Using a Central IRB" link in the navigation bar on our website.) Please review the instruction document carefully before beginning the process.

If you have any questions during the process, you can contact Roe Talarico, who is the designated Jefferson contact for all WIRB issues, or JayLynn Geiger-Goddard, who is our institutional contact at WIRB. Contact info for both is on the website.

Please let us know about your experience with the process so that we may continue to improve it.
